

Hello Maria Avila,

Thank you for reviewing my application for “Machine Learning Software Engineer” at Cornell Lab of Ornithology.

My parents are avid bird watchers and saw this position advertised in the app. I have been working as a software engineer applying AI to business problems for over a decade. I currently find myself looking for my next role and it would be an absolute pleasure and privilege to work on this project.

In my resume you will find extensive experience not only training machine learning models but applying them to mobile applications. From computer vision to the latest “visual” VLM’s I have proven I can deliver results in this exciting field.

I would like to discuss my fit over a phone call at your earliest convenience.

(206) 234-9019

Sincerely,

Jon Vogel
